Staff Comments: We went through this with the Rootstown Zoning Inspectors, Rootstown Zoning Commission, the attorney representing the Lake Districts and even residents from those communities. My underlying concern is that this text is based primarily on the R-2 zoning meant for future development. These are pre-existing communities. The majority of the zoning requirements while sound will probably not be fully utilized. Some further consideration may be needed to address the current functioning of the the pre-existing communities. They currently function very similar to a condominium development. This amendment may necessitate platting of the pre-existing development which will be costly and non-conforming to our current subdivision regulations.

Regional Planning staff and the RPC Board of course will assist with the will of Rootstown Township, but maybe the communities and or the Township need to know what will be involved with platting these homes onto lots. Both sides (platting or condominium) make a great case.

Staff Recommendation: Approve as written. However before the Township adopts the text amendment, a determination should be reached as to whether these communities will continue as a condominium (in theory or in reality) or as a platted subdivision.

- A. To recognize pre-existing residential developments around Sandy and Muzzy Lakes;
  - 1. The Lake Districts are not intended to be expanded or to allow new residential developments on or around Sandy and Muzzy Lakes in a similar density or setback configuration.
